

NextGen Tonganoxie

The next generation
premix facility
dedicated to pets

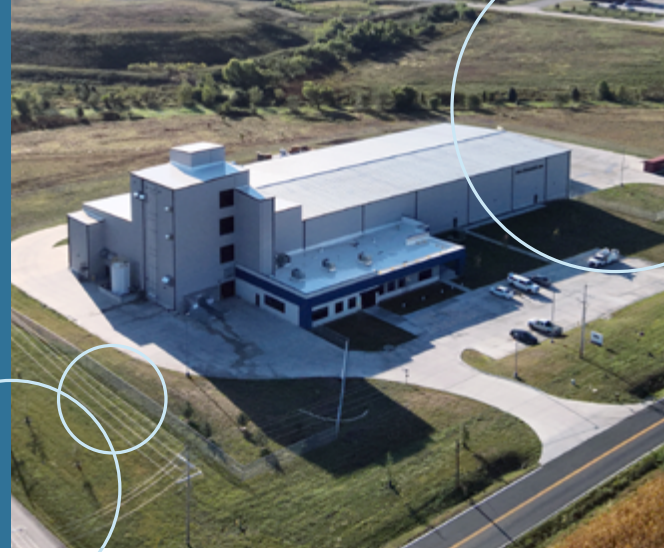

Pets are family—and pet parents now expect the same science, quality, and care in their animal companions' food as in their own.

NextGen Tonganoxie delivers on that promise. Built exclusively for pet nutrition, this next generation premix facility combines precision formulation with zero-compromise safety, setting a new benchmark for the pet nutrition industry.

Pioneering the future of North American pet nutrition

NextGen Tonganoxie—our state-of-the-art, pet-only premix facility in Kansas—marks a new chapter in pet food manufacturing. Strategically located in the United States' Animal Health Corridor in Kansas, it places dsm-firmenich at the center of North American pet nutrition innovation.

Zero-compromise safety through precision automation

- 100% automated micro-ingredient dosing and fully traceable batch processing via Amabox containerized systems
- Eliminates cross-contamination and human error
- Separate lines for high-risk ingredients and full segregation from feed operations support the highest level of safety standards

Unlocking advanced formulation possibilities

Modern pet food demands versatility, from everyday nutrition to high-performance functional blends.

Our advanced blending technologies enable precise incorporation of sensitive micronutrients such as vitamins, carotenoids, omega-3s, trace minerals, and microbiome solutions.

From core vitamin premixes to tailored functional blends, we create fully customized solutions that match every brand's positioning and performance goals.
